

2011 Year of Basic Literacy

Message: Public libraries are the Preschoolers Door to Learning and valuable partners with literacy programs in creating a literate community.

Goal 1: To acquaint legislators, parents, caregivers and the public with the importance of reading to children begins at birth for 20 minutes every day.

- Each county have a library voice/rep or their Community Engagement Group.
- Library card signup campaigns in childcare facilities.
- Investigate region-wide Books are Bright Beginnings cards.
- Commissioner's proclamation.
- Regional "Best Practices" awards luncheon ceremonies in Williamsport.
- Letters to all elected officials about "at risk" rankings for their counties.
- Read 20 campaigns in every county.
- Ask local newspapers to partner.
- Coordinated Foundation ask for regional Tumblebooks license, brain boxes and brain box training, PR.
- Ask United Ways to provide venture grants for Born Learning Trails.
- Develop website paparent.org.
- Letters to editors, op-ed pieces, news releases for region.

Goal 2: To promote mutual benefit partnerships with literacy programs.

- Each library has a tutor recruitment drive.
- Establish Read to Feed the Mind program with regional food banks, shelters, Salvation Armies, Rescue Workers.
- Develop print and online support collections, promote Tumblebooks, Learning Express.
- Regional meetings of library and literacy staff to brainstorm cooperation.
- Market story boxes to Family Literacy programs.

Community Engagement Groups

The Regional Keys administer funding within local communities to support Early Childhood Community Engagement Groups (sometimes referred to as the CEG).

These county-based groups work throughout Pennsylvania's 67 counties to inform, educate and motivate around quality early learning. Some of the goals of these groups are:

- To develop and implement a community outreach plan to educate and foster relationships with parents, policy leaders, businesses, schools, and the early learning community about issues in early learning such as Pennsylvania's Promise for Children, Pennsylvania Pre-K Counts, Keystone STARS, and Child Care Works;
- To be the county point of contact for Pennsylvania's Promise for Children materials;
- To facilitate linkages between school districts, early learning practitioners, and other community stakeholders for the purpose of developing a community action plan to support successful kindergarten transitions;
- To create and distribute a Report to the Community detailing the activities, goals, and outcomes of the CEG;
- To appropriately leverage resources and support in the community; and
- To work with the Regional Key to implement the Key's Regional Plan.

Local Interagency Coordinating Councils (LICC)

Local Interagency Coordinating Councils, or LICC, are considered integral parts of Community Engagement Groups. Representatives may come from families, county administration, intermediate units, school districts, early intervention providers, Head Start, service coordinators, health agencies, and other community organizations. While each LICC is different, each works toward the overall goal of enhancing local early intervention support services.
